A Message From Evening of Hope Chair

Modern cancer treatments have become increasingly more effective for curing all types of cancer, but unfortunately reduce fertility in many survivors because of their toxic effects on reproductive organs. These patients are young and scared, and in most cases hope to have a child of their own in the future. Recent strides in cryopreservation technologies with egg, embryo and sperm banking have greatly improved the likelihood of pregnancy in cancer patients. Provision of these technologies requires treatments that are costly and not publicly funded in most areas of Canada. Fertile Future is a national charity that provides funding through the Power of Hope Cost Reduction Program to patients receiving cryopreservation treatments at participating fertility clinics that are required to deeply discount their services. To date over 500 men and women have received the necessary funds to proceed with these fertility sparing procedures, providing the hope of parenthood.

Fertile Future will accomplish its vision by promoting awareness and understanding of fertility preservation among patients, the medical community, and the Canadian public. We work with oncology & fertility groups across Canada to ensure young Canadians receive timely information on fertility preservation options. We will raise funds to help subsidize the costs of fertility preservation for young men and women until full funding is available through provincial health plans. We strongly believe that these patients should be fully supported by our public healthcare system, so will continue to advocate for public funding of fertility preservation treatments.

These Canadians courageously battle through cancer, help us fulfill their dream of a child.

Dr. Jeff Roberts

PACIFIC CENTRE FOR REPRODUCTIVE MEDICINE

We strongly believe that women and men struggling with the diagnosis of cancer should not be faced with the financial burden of these medical services.
